

FELICITATION
July 9th 2016

Unique Ability Consulting

MDA Felicitation July 9th 2016

It was a great pleasure and a honour to be the Chief Guest at the MDA felicitation ceremony. I stood in a room of Dyslexic people and felt even more convinced that, the world is yours to make what you want to be, as long as you go ahead and take it. The road is always going to be hard, but what road in life is not, set your goals and what you want to achieve in life and work towards it and never give up. In life you choose your destiny and do not let others choose it for you. Always be proud to be Dyslexic.

MDA Felicitation July 9th 2016

Unique Ability Consulting

MDA Felicitation July 9th 2016

Unique Ability Consulting

MDA Felicitation July 9th 2016

Saffana Siddiqui

Dyslexia doesn't need to be something to hold you back. Take it as a gift and make people understand you are as capable as they are. Just because you have a different approach doesn't mean you are someone who lacks potential, the basis of education is learning and understanding.

In the long run you will understand that Dyslexia is something that made you stronger and made you a deeper learner which will be very helpful to you and that time I hope you will be able to be proud that you are Dyslexic, because I truly am.

MDA Felicitation July 9th 2016

Saffana Siddiqui

The most common factor I have seen amongst parents of Dyslexic students is that their parents at some level themselves have felt hurt, disappointed with the fact that their child is Dyslexic. I am not saying that parents shouldn't be worried about their Dyslexic child, they just shouldn't be saddened or hurt by it. We should be able to make all students get the right remedial intervention to help them achieve their potential.

In my 10th and 12th I achieved a score of 91.20% and 91.75%, my mother was proud of my achievements. I reached my personal goal I set for my self, but of course I am still Dyslexic.

Dyslexia is a part of who you are, don't worry about the so called stigma and what society will say about you, you make your path in life and stick by it with confidence and then the world will see what you can achieve.

Unique Ability Consulting

Email: uniqueability.consulting.com

Website: <http://www.uniqueabilityconsulting.com>

<http://assistivetechology.in/>